Why Quaker Lace Curtains wear so well.

The most important part of a lace curtain is always hidden.

It is a tiny bobbin thread whose strength is your only safeguard when wash day comes.

For it is this little thread which, twisting in and out of the pattern, ties together the threads that shape the design.

The curtain may seem ever so skillfully made, but the wearing quality rests entirely with the concealed bobbin thread.

In every Quaker Lace Curtain, the bobbin thread is the most durable that has ever been used in a lace curtain.

Better laundering curtains have never been produced.

As you hang your Quaker Lace Curtains you will delight in their beauty and the generous way in which they welcome the sunlight. And you will know that this beauty will hold through many washes.

It will be to your advantage to visit the Curtain Departments of merchants who feature Quaker Lace Curtains.
